
Predicted association network (hypothesis): compound-level links between gut microbiota-related metabolites and NPC-related targets; not evidence of causality or of local metabolite concentration.